VOLUME XXII

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1912.

NUMBER 13

Bushwhacked.

The dead body of Thrasher Staten, a farmer, aged 25 years, was found on the roadside near Peeled Oak, this county, at an early hour Monday morning with a bullet hole through his body and it is believed he was murdered from ambush.

Bloodhounds were sent to the scene from this city, but lost the trail when they came to the creek. The shot was heard by neighbors about daylight and upon investigation the body was found. The last seen of him alive was about 9 o'clock Sunday evening.

Staten was unmarried and lived with his sister, Mrs. John Davis.

Fresh oysters, served any style. Service unexcelled.

Notice to the Public.

During the past week the mechanical department of the Advocate has been moved to its new quarters on West Main street in the new Chenault & Orear, building. However, the office will be maintained on Bank street until the new front is completed, and all business will be transacted from the old quarters on Bank street for about a couple of weeks.

"DRYS" VICTORIOUS

County Votes "Dry" by a Majority of 902. To be Contested.

The City of Mt. Sterling Went "Wet" by a Majority of 48.

The local option election held in this city and county Monday was bitterly contested by the temperance people, who won by a majority of 902. The whiskey people made no fight at all but will contest the election in the courts on the grounds that it was illegally called.

Much interest was shown in the election and a large crowd was on the streets all day. Church bells rang almost continuously and large numbers of women and children were on the streets singing temperance songs from 5 o'clock in the morning until the polls closed at 4 in the afternoon.

A celebration was held at the Christian Church last night, at which speeches were made by leading "dry" supporters. The following is the official vote cast:

PRETTY WEDDING

Mr. George Kearns and Miss Katherine McGehee Married.

The Wedding Took Place at the Bride's Home, Near Louisville.

One of the prettiest of early fall weddings was solemnized last Wednesday at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McGehee, of Long Branch, Ky., when their daughter, Kathrine was united in marriage to Mr. George M. Kearns, formerly of this county. The handsome home was most attractively decorated with potted plants, ferns, golden rod and autumn foliage.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin, trimmed in point lace, and carried a bunch of La France roses. She was unattended except the two little flower girls, who were becomingly attired in white.

After the ceremony an elegant luncheon was served the seventy-five guests assembled. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the ices, cakes and confections.

The bride is a very attractive, highly educated and cultured girl, being a daughter of a prominent farmer near Louisville.

The groom is well and favorably known here, having been raised in this county, a protege of Mrs. Margaret K. Chenault. He now holds a responsible position with the Lackawanna Coal and Lumber Co., of Cincinnati, where he and his bride will reside after a ten days' trip east.

A host of friends here join in many good wishes to this popular young couple. Mrs. Bishop Clay, of Lexington; Mrs. W. T. Dearing, of Louisville; Sam Chenault, of this county, attended the wedding.

Buy your blankets and comforts at Hazelrigg's.

Mrs. N. B. Haggard, through T. F. Rogers & Son, sold a vacant lot on North Queen street to J. R. Lyons.

Democratic Editors Organize.

Chairman Camden, of the State Campaign Committee, addressed the Democratic editors of Kentucky at a luncheon at the Country Club in Louisville Saturday afternoon. The editors later formed themselves into the Democratic Editors Association of Kentucky and pledged themselves to do everything possible to forward the work of the campaign.

County Wins Suit.

In the suit of the City of Mt. Sterling vs. Montgomery County regarding payment for the brick streets around the Court House and jail, Judge Young decided that the county was not liable therefor and entered a judgment for the defendant. The city will take the case to the Court of Appeals. There is about $4,000 involved, and if Judge Young's decision is upheld by the higher court the city will have this amount to pay or the contractor will lose (this also being a disputed point.)

For Sale.

Thanks are extended the Legislature for giving the suffrage to women in school elections. The convention closed Sunday afternoon.

UNITED CLOTHING

Stores Open for Business in This City in Julian Building.

Everything New, Clean and Up-to-Date—Give Them a Call.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I am again in Mt. Sterling engaged in the clothing business at my old stand on the corner. I have connected myself with the United Clothing Stores, a firm composed of representative business men. This firm has no connection with any business or firm who heretofore did business in this city.

Their policy is to sell only dependable merchandise at a small margin of profit, to treat each and every customer in a fair and honorable way, and see that they get their money's worth. No tricks or deceptive methods will be allowed. All our goods will be marked in plain figures, one price to all and no deviation from these prices, therefore you know you buy as cheap as anyone and get a "square deal."

Their buying facilities are such that buying in large quantities direct from the manufacturer as they do for all their stores enables them to offer exceptional values in suits and overcoats at the special prices of $10.00, $13.50 and $16.50, and in pants at $2.50, $3.50 and $5.00. We will carry a full line of furnishings, consisting of shirts, underwear, suspenders, gloves, &c., from Wilson Bros., recognized to be as good as the market affords. In hats we shall show you all the new shapes and styles in a $2.00 hat of exceptional value.

In the management of the business I hope to merit your full confidence.

1st. By selling good goods only.
2nd. By protecting you from loss should any article prove unsatisfactory.

3rd. No misrepresentations will be allowed or trickery of any kind tolerated.

With these promises of fair dealing and the extra values I shall offer I hope to have your patronage and invite you to come and see for yourself the many good things we have to sell.

Yours truly,

W. P. GUTHRIE, Mgr.,
United Clothing Stores.

To Consumers of Natural Gas.

In answer to many inquiries, the management of this company is pleased to state that the plans which were made public last fall, for extending its main lines across the mountains of Kentucky to the West Virginia gas fields, have been put into execution; the work of constructing the line has been vigorously prosecuted—although from the nature of the country it has been a difficult and costly undertaking—and we are absolutely sure of its completion in ample time to furnish all consumers with a full supply. We deem it proper and fair to give our consumers this information so that they may know how definitely our company is faithfully performing its promise to use every effort to furnish them with a full and dependable supply of natural gas for many years to come; and also to notify them that after the regular reading of meters in the month of December, 1912, the rates will be advanced five (5) cents per thousand cubic feet.

Steal Flour.

At an early hour one morning last week, Policeman Tipton located a negro near I. F. Tabb's with a hundred pound sack of flour across his shoulder. He tried to arrest the negro, who dropped the flour and made good his escape. Several shots were fired by the officer, one of which is thought to have taken effect. The flour was returned to its owner.

Time for the Farmers' inning.

One of the most effective speeches that has been delivered by Gov. Wilson during the campaign was that at the farmer's picnic at Washington Park, New Jersey. It was especially prepared for the farmers, who the Governor showed never occupied the center of the stage in politics, and were little considered in legislation. The farmers have demanded no protection, but everything they buy is protected by a heavy tariff which in most cases goes into the pockets of the trusts instead of helping to pay the expenses of the Government. When tariff bills are considered it is the interests that ask to be heard. Who ever thought of the farmers asking to be heard?

"It is time," said Governor Wilson, "for you to break into your own house and to live there. I want you to examine very critically the tenants who have been occupying it. It is a very big house and very few people have been living in it."

This good advice to the farmers is applicable to all classes that have received little consideration at the hands of the Republicans. There seems to be a general desire for a house cleaning, and it will come in November, if every Democrat does his duty as we are sure they will do when they have such an excellent chance to get possession of the Government, which the Republicans have so long mismanaged.

MAKING A NATIONAL PARK

Persistence and Energy of One Man Saved Crater Lake Region to Country.

One morning in the spring of 1886 a thirteen-year-old boy arrived at a school house in Kansas after a five-mile walk across the prairie. At noon, after eating his lunch, he picked up the crumpled newspaper in which the lunch had been wrapped and in this read what purported to be a description of a wonderful "sunken lake" in Oregon.

It was a sensational, largely imaginative, inaccurate account, but it took such a strong hold on this boy, Wm. G. Steel, that two years later he arrived in Oregon in quest of this lake. It was not until after nine years of questioning, however, that he at last met a man who had actually seen Crater lake.

In 1888 he himself stood for the first time upon its wild and romantic shore. Before leaving it he resolved to have it made a national park. For years he spent money, time and energy to accomplish this; he went to Washington again and again. In 1902 he triumphed, and the Crater lake region became a national park.

Mr. Steel has had an important place in the forest conservation movement in the northwest from its beginning, and he commenced this agitation in 1886. For a short time in Portland, Ore., he published a little magazine called Steel Points. He is the author of a book, "The Mountains of Oregon," long out of print. It was he who, on the top of Mount Hood, on July 19, 1894, organized the Mazamas, the now famous mountain club of the northwest. Mr. Steel was born in Ohio in 1864 and is now living in Portland.—Country Life in America.

OUR EMBARRASSING LANGUAGE.

Once there was an American girl who had been permitted to spend a year in England just at a critical point in her education.

She was not there long enough to become really British—only long enough to learn to mispronounce a few American words, and to commit homicide on a few bits of American rhetoric. In spite of these things, an American man fell in love with her.

He proposed—she accepted. But she was still a bit coy. When he opened his arms and dashed forward to taste the luscious fragrance of her lips, she demurred.

"No, Billy," she said—"you cannot kiss me on the mouth—yet. But you may kiss me on either cheek!"

Billy stared, but did not move. "Why do you hesitate?" she blushed.

"I'm trying to choose which cheek," he answered.

And then she had to explain that "either" not only meant "either" but "each." It was awfully embarrassing, but what could the poor girl do? And it was her own fault.

BELIEVE IN SACRED WATERS

Long Custom Has Made Tank a Place of Pilgrimage for the Faithful in India.

A remarkable Indian ceremony is the Kumbhamekum Mahamakam festival. This feast takes place once a year, but the Hindu gods are supposed to visit the sacred tank on each twelfth anniversary. It is said that the god Brahma once requested Siva to collect the essence of all the waters in the world.

It is understood that Siva succeeded in doing this, placing the fluid in a pot which he hid away on the top of a mountain. During the flood this pot floated away from its position and when the waters subsided it rested at a spot some distance away now known as Kumbhamekum.

Siva, who happened to be hunting in the vicinity, saw the pot and drawing his bow and arrow shot at it with disastrous results. The water rushing out filled a hollow and this at the present time is the renowned tank. This tank is now a place of pilgrimage, where during the festival untold thousands of the faithful dip themselves in the wonderful water, which is credited with all sorts of magical attributes.—Wide World.

LEECH A WEATHER PROPHET

Actions of the Small Insect in Jar Will Tell You What You May Expect.

A leech kept in a glass jar of water is an excellent weather prophet. The jar should contain about three gills of water, which should be changed once a week in summer, every ten days in winter.

When the leech lies at the bottom of the jar and curled up in spiral form you may reasonably rely on fine weather.

If, however, it creeps up to the top of the jar and remains there, rain is coming.

When the leech darts about its lodging with great swiftness, it is not suffering from a pain, but is telling you to look out for wind.

If a hurricane is on its way the leech will be more out of the water than in and will have convulsive movements. The jar, by the way, should be only partially filled with water, while the top should be covered with muslin.

When Jack Frost is going to pay us a visit the leech behaves as when foretelling fine weather—i. e. he lies at the bottom of the jar; but when snow is coming he climbs right up to the mouth of the jar and sticks there.

FUTILITY OF EDUCATION.

Dr. Lawrence C. Abbott of Cleveland, at the recent convention of railway surgeons in Philadelphia, said of a safety device that has averted many railway accidents:

"The advantage of this device is now almost universally recognized. Indeed, the railroad who disputes its advantage is as antiquated as the old resident who said:

"'Education be hanged! Thar's young Bill Smithers took an engineerin' course in a correspondence school and then put up a sign on his carriage house, and hadn't no better sense than to spell 'carriage' 'garage'!'"

IN THE NATURAL WAY.

"I've just bought a splendid talking machine for $100."

"That's nothing. I got one for nothing."

"How did you manage to do that?"

"I married it."

INVOLVED TERMS.

Sue—I could hardly keep my countenance when Ned spoke of our secret.

Prue—But you did, didn't you?

Sue—Oh, yes; otherwise I would have given it away.

NATURAL RESULT.

"So Dibble is playing golf for his health?"

"Yes."

"Any improvement?"

"His health is better, but his language is worse."

SLIGHTLY IN ERROR.

"He seems to think he is the man of the hour."

"As a matter of fact he couldn't hold the world's attention five seconds."

Why a Montgomery County Farmer Should

Trade in Mt. Sterling.

1. Because he can do as well here as anywhere else. (Perhaps you CAN pick out some isolated instances to the contrary, but one swallow does not make a summer.

2. Because it costs money, and time, which is worth money, to get goods from mail order houses or to shop in other cities. (Did you ever go to Lexington because you thought you might save a dollar or two, and then UNNECESSARILY spend more than you thought you could save! Even if the articles were cheaper in Lexington and Louisville, ON AN AVERAGE, the farmer who went to either place, or sent his family to either place, would be out more money than if he shopped in Mt. Sterling. Any farmer who sticks to home buying for one year will sure find his expenses are decreased. This would be true EVEN IF MT. STERLING WAS HIGHER, which it is NOT.

3. Because a farmer who diverts trade from his county town is undermining the value of his own farm and the comfort of his own home. Suppose MT. STERLING was off the map, would your farm sell for as much per acre? [Not to any man who wanted to live on it. Suppose MT. STERLING was a city of 10,000 people, would it advance the price of your land? You know it would. Suppose every Montgomery farmer bought everything he could away from home, until MT. STERLING stores ceased to carry anything but the bare necessities of life, would it interfere with your comfort, inconvenience and profit? You know it would.

4. Kentuckians are the most clannish people on earth. To love and to stand up for home is one of their strongest characteristics. Why not stand up for your home town?

5. The merchants of MT. STERLING are your friends your neighbors, your relatives. You have grown up with them. Confidence and friendship exist between you. Wouldn't you rather they get your dollar than some man who cares nothing for you, in some town which is trying to take the trade away from your own community?

The 2-Year-Old Stars.

The lovers of the trotter predict that the 2-year-old races at Lexington will be the greatest ever seen, and many are of the opinion that the world's record, 2:09, for 2-year-old colts will be broken; and others go so far as to believe that Native Belle's record for all sexes will be lowered in the future, amongst the eligibles to which are Dilloh Axworthy, Lord Allen, Don Chenault, Peter the Gay, Loree Toddington, Sweet Alice, Lord Brussels, Magowan, Lady Regantle and Pine Knot, every one of which has shown form of the highest class. In addition to these there are eleven others that made good the September payment; and to see these races lovers of colt trotting from all parts of the United States will assemble at Lexington on October 9, on which day will also be contested the great races for the Walnut Hill Cup, a most magnificent trophy contributed by Mr. L. V. Harness, of the famous Walnut Hill Farm.

Pacing Kings.

The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association seems to have done wisely in offering a guaranteed stake of $3,000 for pacers of the 2:05 class, for it is now almost certain that for the first time in 1912 there will be a meeting of the four cracks, viz., Joe Patchen 2nd, Bradin Direct, Jones Gentry, and Knight Onwardo, the latter being the only horse that has defeated Joe Patchen 2nd during the season. Joe Gentry is unbeaten; Joe Patchen 2nd has lost but one race; Bradin Direct but one, and that through an accident, and many of the Canadian contingent stand ready to back the wonderful pony King Onwardo against any one of the three. This will certainly be a race amongst Kings, and moreover, as the four Kings of the year have not yet met, the battle will be a royal one and worth going many hundred miles to see. This race and the Kentucky Futurity are carded for October 8, the first day of Lexington's great trots.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.

Timely Seed Corn Hints.

At this particular season it is well to have the attention not only of the members of agricultural clubs, but also of the general farmers, called to the importance of getting a good supply of seed corn for next year. The fate of next year's corn crop will be largely determined by the action taken by the farmer within the next few days. Seed corn testing is highly important, and should not be neglected, but it is well to remember that unless seed corn is properly cared for the best next spring will not only reveal the sad fact that the seed corn is very poor and that a perfect stand cannot be assured.

There are a good many things to take into consideration in selecting seed corn. These points concern not only the ear itself but the stalk upon which it was grown; hence it is desirable that the seed corn should be selected from the field before the corn is cut if possible.

Seed corn should be selected in the fall just as it is coming to maturity. Select well developed ears growing upon well developed and vigorous stalks, and of the same maturity. Mark them and allow them to mature. Do not select large ears from stalks that have grown in hills by themselves, that have been extremely favored in the way of rich spots or have been favored in regard to moisture present, but prefer those that have produced most heavily when growing under average conditions. Other things being equal, select ears from short, thick stalks rather than from tall slender ones, as the latter are more likely to be blown down. Never select an ear that is extremely long of shank, but rather select one of a medium shank with the tip pointing downward to an angle of about 45 degrees. Prefer ears that do not have a gross, coarse, heavy husk.

The boys' and girls' clubs that have come under the direction of State University Extension Division of the College of Agriculture have noticed that they were designated "agricultural clubs" and not "corn clubs." The reason for this is that boys' and girls' clubs in their respective counties should be fixed organizations through which many good things may be taught to them and other people, the club itself being a working factor to put into operation those things proposed by the director of the work. In this connection a hand book of instruction has been prepared for these clubs, including certain definite exercises in corn growing, animal husbandry, dairying, horticulture, poultry, potato growing and domestic science.

The work of instructing and looking after these clubs has recently been provided for on a better basis than ever before, and as good as our work has been in the past it is hoped that it may be made better in the future. Under the new arrangement the extension work of the University has been divided into three sections, all operating under one head. The boys' and girls' club work has been assigned as a division to Dr. Fred Mutchler, of Bowling Green, Ky., stationed at the Western Normal School.

Co-operation is now being lent by the Federal Government and by various individuals and corporations interested. Letters regarding club work should be sent to Dr. Mutchler directly.

No club should neglect this year to have a good show of various farm products, as the crops have been fine. Assistance in such undertakings will be freely given on application to the Extension Division. T. R. BRYANT, Supt. Extension Division, College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky.

Houn Dawg will be hear in a few days. 11tf

Autumn.

Suppose the trust problem does press heavily upon our overburdened and so-called minds, shall we not yet care as much for the season's changing hues? To the lover and the poet, spring is the most popular period of the year; but to the philosopher very dear is the time of mellow fruitfulness and of highly colored sadness. George Eliot was first of all a philosopher, and she said: "If I were a bird I would fly about the earth seeking the successive autumns." She loved "the still melancholy . . . that makes life and nature harmonize," the birds consulting about their migrations, the trees beginning to put on their hectic or pallid hues, and to strew the ground, "that one's very footsteps may not disturb the repose of earth and air." Emerson was altogether a philosopher, even when he was most a poet, and it was he who asked us to remember what befalls a city boy who goes for the first time into the October woods: "He is suddenly initiated into a pomp and glory that bring to pass for him the dreams of romance . . . he walks through tents of gold, through bowers of crimson, porphyry, and topaz, pavilion on pavilion, garlanded with vines, flowers and sunbeams." This pomp and glory that excite the still reflecting boy too often depress him who has begun to think of approaching winter; but a true philosopher, sucking calm even from the most formidable of facts, welcomes the goldenrod and the oak's crimson change with all the sense of value he could give to the crocus or the daffodil.—Collier's.

BACKWARD.

Backward, turn backward, oh time, in your flight; feed me on gruel again just for tonight. I am so weary of sole-leather steak, petrified biscuit and galvanized cake; oysters that sleep in a watery bath, and butter as strong as Goliath of Gath. Weary of paying for what I can't eat, chewing up rubber and calling it meat.

Backward, turn backward, how weary I am; give me a swipe at grandmother's jam; let me drink milk that hasn't been skimmed, let me eat butter whose whiskers are trimmed; let me once more have an old-fashioned pie, then I'll be ready to curl up and die.—Scottish Rite Bulletin.

A romance of the telegraph, which has passed into history, is that of Ruth, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, who fell in love with an artist and married him in spite of the fact that her distinguished parents kicked and screamed and held their breath. After the marriage Ruth's parents were wonderfully kind to her; assisted her financially, and finally took her and her children home to live. Another chapter of the romance has just been written. Ruth's artist husband, whose name is W. H. Leavett, is married again. This time he married a preacher's daughter, Miss Gertrude Leeper, of Houston, Texas. The marriage was a secret one, and the preacher's daughter fell in love with the divorced artist husband of Ruth Bryan when she saw him exhibit his Great Work, "The Lord's Supper."

TRAINING FOR THE FIREMEN

Sedalia Alderman Wanted Them to Practice for Two Days Before Each Blaze.

"A number of years ago," said an ex-Sedalian, "a substantial German-American citizen was elected to the council in Sedalia, Mo. His sound business ideas soon made him easily the strongest member of the body in point of influence, but there were times when his ideas became tangled.

"About the time the alderman in question was completing his first term there arose a somewhat general and severe criticism of the town's fire protection. After the matter had been thoroughly discussed the alderman came to the conclusion that the trouble was due to inefficiency on the part of the firemen.

"Haf it all fixed oop," the alderman confided to his colleagues at one of the meetings. "You vaste no more dime in dalk. You choost vote for mine ordinance."

"The aldermen had sufficient faith in their associate's ability to cope with the municipal problems to wait for the ordinance, which was to be introduced and passed under a suspension of the rules. They expected a satisfactory explanation when the measure should be introduced. It came.

"Misturr President," said the author of the measure, "der troubles mit dis town iss dat der fire department don't bractiss enough yet. Dis ordinance vill cure der troubles. It says dat der department shall bractiss for two days before efery fire." —Kansas City Journal.

WERE NOT ON HIS LIST.

The late Rev. Horatio Stebbins of San Francisco was a man of large mind and noble powers, but more familiar with the world of intellectual and scholastic interests than with trivial and timely things, says the Cleveland Leader.

His household was blessed with a charming daughter, who grew up tall and beautiful, commanding the admiration of all who saw her. One day a visitor said to the good doctor: "Doctor, your daughter grows more charming day by day. Why, she's a regular Gibson girl."

"Ah, thank you; thank you," replied the doctor in his best manner. When the visitor had gone, turning to his wife, the doctor asked: "My dear, who are the Gibsons?"

IN APPREHENSION.

"I gave her a plush album on her wedding anniversary. It was one I had about the house for some time, but it looked like new."

"Well?"

"Now she has found that I have an anniversary soon."

"Well, no doubt you expect her to reciprocate."

"Reciprocate is not the word. I'm afraid she will retaliate."

QUITE SO.

"Who reads poetry?"

"Numerous people."

"Bah! What good is it?"

"Do not sneer at poetry, my friend. Poetry has risen in the estimation of many since they began using it on the baseball page."

AQUATIC SPOUSE.

"Poor Benders! He has a hard time."

"Why so?"

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

We frequently hear some citizen speak disparagingly, and, we think, unjustly, of a bank official who has refused to honor his check, because of insufficient funds. The practice of checking, irrespective of the condition of one's account, was, for years, a common custom, until it is hard for some to feel it is not their right and privilege to do so. This unbusiness-like practice is no longer tolerated and ought never to have been, since the cashier's bond is responsible if he permits it and both State and national bank examiners forbid it.

No man should ask a cashier to become personally responsible for his overdraft, and before checking beyond one's deposit arrangement should be made by note or no checks should be drawn.

In addition to the embarrassment occasioned to any self-respecting man by payment of his check being declined, criminal liability may be incurred, since only last week a man was indicted by our Grand Jury for obtaining goods by false pretenses, in giving a local merchant a check, in exchange for merchandise, drawn upon a bank in which he knew he had no funds and representing the check to be good.

We don't blame a Democrat for wearing a "smile that won't come off." Never in the country's history has the Democratic party been so earnest and united, while we see the party of privilege engaged in bitter internecine strife, showing unmistakable evidences of disintegration and decay.

The Trusts and Roosevelt.

When Governor Wilson stated that the trusts grew and flourished faster under his administration than ever before, Colonel Roosevelt threw several fits and indulged in his usual intemperate language in denouncing the charge and the man who made it. But Governor Wilson is not given to making statements that are not supported by facts.

Senator La Follette, one of the most progressive men in the Republican party, who was ruthlessly cast aside by Roosevelt in his inordinate ambition to be President again, makes the statement, after full investigation, that when Roosevelt became President the total amount of the stock and bond issues of all combinations and trusts, including the railways then in combination, was only $3,784,000,000. When Roosevelt turned the country over to Taft the total capitalization of the trusts and combinations amounted to the enormous sum of $31,672,000,000, more than seventy per cent of which was water. Prices were put up on transportation and on the products of the mines and factories to pay interest and dividends on this fraudulent capitalization. No wonder the trusts are favorable to the third-term. They know by experience that they can get all they want with him at the head of the government.

"IT IS I, BE NOT AFRAID."

Mark vi, 45-56—Oct. 6.

"Straightway Jesus spoke unto them, saying, Be of good cheer, it is I; be not afraid."—Matthew xiv, 27.

TODAY'S STUDY shows us how interested people become in anything that will relieve them of ailments, which cause our race to be, as St. Paul described it, "a groaning creation." The crowds continued to gather wherever Jesus went, partly for hearing, partly from curiosity, and partly because the Message that He gave was one of consolation. He was not forever blaming them for not keeping the Law. He was continually expressing sympathy for their weaknesses, and encouraging them to "go and sin no more."

After the feeding of the five thousand, Jesus urged His disciples to return to the other side of the Lake. He dismissed the multitude and went into the solitude of the hills for prayer. It is noteworthy that nearly all of the Great Teacher's prayers are brief. Whenever He wished to make long prayers He went to the Father by Himself. Undoubtedly this would be a good example for all of His followers. Long prayers are frequently a weariness to the flesh, and are likely to contain vain repetitions, or to be attempts to instruct the Lord concerning matters which He understands much better than do His children.

Walking on the Sea.

The disciples experienced contrary winds. In the night they saw what they supposed to be a spirit manifestation walking on the water near their boat. They cried out for all saw it, and then they heard a voice saying, "It is I, be not afraid." Jesus got into the boat with them, and the wind ceased, to their amazement, for they had already forgotten the lesson of the feeding of the five thousand with the five loaves and two fishes.

In addition to seeing in this a further manifestation of Divine power, we may see a spiritual lesson. After the Master's ascension, the disciples were alone in the midst of a contrary people, and found progress difficult. This helped them to remember the Master's ability to come to them on the troubled seas, and how His coming brought peace.

St. Matthew gives an additional feature of this lesson not recorded by St. Mark. He tells us that when St. Peter learned that it was Jesus who walked upon the sea, he requested the Lord to sanction his walking on the water to Him. The Lord consented, and St. Peter had the courage to make the effort. And his faith continued, doubtless he would have been sustained, but the Lord's rule with His people seems to be, "According to thy faith be it unto thee." We are not to encourage credulity in ourselves or others, but we are to remember that faith is very precious in the Lord's sight.

In St. Peter's case it was entirely proper that he should attempt to go to the Lord, because the effort had been sanctioned. But when he saw the boisterous waves his faith failed, and he cried, "Save, or I perish!" How true it is of all God's people that they would like to do some wonderful things to show their faith in the Lord! And how like St. Peter's are their experiences! They would utterly fail did not the Lord interpose for their rescue.

St. Peter the Teachable.

Much has been said respecting St. Peter's rashness. The criticism is to some extent justified, but the Master loved him greatly on account of his zeal and energy. Although he was the oldest of the Apostles he was evidently one of the most teachable of them. Of his mistakes he made a mirror, and thus, learning to know himself, he was safeguarded through the many dangers natural to his temperament; and he stands forth in the Scriptures as one of the noblest of the Apostles.

There must have been a strain continually upon the Great Teacher and Healer, for He was continually expending His vitality. In healing the sick, virtue, or vitality, went out from Him, and all His public teaching cost vitality, especially when He addressed multitudes. Thus was fulfilled in part the saying of the Prophet respecting Him, "Himself took our sicknesses and bore our infirmities."

Nevertheless, we find Him ever alert about the Father's business, and instructing all who gave evidence of being, or of becoming, children of God. When the ship reached shore the people recognized Him and began to carry the sick to where Jesus was. And whosoever he entered, into villages, cities or country, they besought Him that these might touch if it were but the corner of His garment; "and as many as touched Him were made whole."

All that touched His garments were healed.

Monopoly on Mud Slinging.

Even if there was any desire, the Democrats don't have to sling mud in this campaign. The third-termers and Taft followers have secured a monopoly of it. Roosevelt, himself, says all sorts of mean things of Taft, whom he made President, and of whom less than two years ago he said, "he is able, upright and distinguished, and entitled to the thanks of the American people for the great work he is doing." Hiram Johnson, Roosevelt's running mate, says that Taft is "the most humiliating character in all American history."

The Taft speakers also engage in vilification, and if Senator Bradley and others omit to say anything that is severe and derogatory of Teddy it is only because they forget. Senator Bradley speaks of him as an "arrant demagogue," "the greatest boss in the world, masquerading in the clothes of Billy Bryan, which are too big for him," and in order to win is "plunging the gleaming dagger of hate and malice into his political mother's breast." There is an old saying that when thieves fall out honest men get their dues. While these political pirates are clutching at each other's throats in this way the people will surely come into their own.

ANDROMEDA'S GREAT NEBULA

Most Astonishing Object in Heavens and Long a Mystery to Astronomers.

One of the most astonishing objects in the heavens is the great nebula in the constellation Andromeda, which is visible as a misty speck to the naked eye. It has long puzzled astronomers because, while its structure—a series of vast rings surrounding a central mass—suggests a gaseous constitution, its spectrum is continuous, resembling that of the sun. It has been suggested that it may be composed of stars constituting a universe external to ours. Studies of its parallax, however, indicate that it is nearer to us than some of the well-known stars, such as Capella; and Gore, the English astronomer, points out that if the Andromeda nebula were assumed to be an external universe, having a diameter comparable with that of the Milky Way, its mass would be forty million million times the mass of the sun. This is regarded as incredible and so may be taken as an additional argument in favor of the view that this nebula is a member of our system.—Harper's Weekly.

PRISONER MADE $300 A DAY

Paris Banker Conducts Extensive Financial Transactions From His Cell.

The Paris police recently raided a financial establishment in the rue Lafayette and confiscated the contents of the safe as well as the books, thereby putting a stop to the lucrative source of revenue of a banker named Zucco, who has been in prison for several months for irregular financial transactions.

M. Zucco, although occupying a cell, first at the Sante and then at Fresnes, contrived to open another financial establishment in the same house as that occupied by his bank, which was closed by the police when he was arrested.

From his cell he directed a scheme for getting small investors to subscribe jointly for lottery bonds.

Business went well. The new establishment was soon employing ten clerks, and M. Zucco in his cell was making about $300 a day. But disappointed clients informed the police.—New York Tribune.

Cheer Up, Winchester,

Don't be a Grouch!

"If the correspondent to the Cincinnati Enquirer from Detroit ever gets close enough to Col. Asa Sphar he is sure to get a good 'cussin' if not a first-class 'lickin'." In spelling the Winchester man's name as being the owner of the horse, Wanderer, that won the big $10,000 Michigan stake last Friday, the correspondent wrote it "Col. Ace Spaw of Mt. Sterling." Col. Sphar claims that his name has been misspelled a thousand times, but this is the worst ever he rubbed it in by giving Mt. Sterling as his home.—Winchester Democrat.

Winchester people should not get sore over such trivial matters, for it must be remembered Winchester is not well known in the trotting world, and when Kentucky trotting horses are away from home they are generally known as Lexington or Mt. Sterling owned horses.

Governor Marshall.

It was real inspiration that caused the Baltimore Convention to place Governor Thomas R. Marshall on the ticket with Governor Wilson. As Governor of Indiana he has demonstrated his capacity and his public expressions before and after the nomination stamp him as a man that should be honored and trusted. The Governor is a firm believer that any system of government which enables one man to take advantage of another is not a system under which a Democratic condition of life can thrive, and his life-time effort has been for a return to first principles.

As it looks Taft will certainly carry only two States—Rhode Island and Idaho. The fight is between Roosevelt and Wilson—a fact which the Democratic campaign managers seem to be overlooking. Roosevelt is going to run like a scared deer among the workers in the cities and the farmers. The Roosevelt promises are definite and strong. Governor Wilson's utterances are graceful, suave and, it must be admitted, rather academic. It's Teddy vs. Woody—and don't you forget it.—Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

No Tainted Money for Wilson.

The announcement is made that the Steel Trust is backing Colonel Roosevelt. Other trusts are also contributing to his campaign, but the bulk of the trust money goes to Taft who signed the Payne-Aldrich robber tariff bill, and vetoed every effort of the Democratic Congress to mitigate in some degree its hardships.

There are no trusts, corporations or other doubtful concerns behind Governor Wilson, who has positively refused to accept any of their gifts. He is depending alone on the people to finance his campaign and he is not reckoning in vain. When he is elected President, as he seems sure to be and will if every Democrat does his duty, he will take the office free from any entanglement and be the president of the whole people. The prospect of such a change should fire the heart of every patriotic man to help in the accomplishment of so glorious an end.

MYSTERY IN RUN OF TIDES

Man Has Never Been Able to Learn All the Reasons for the Currents of the Ocean.

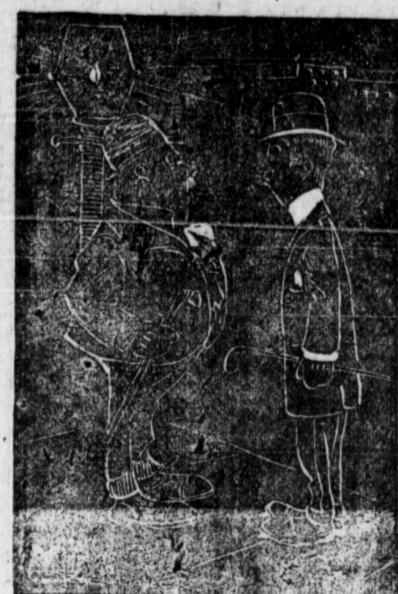

The townsman whose acquaintance with the silvery sea is usually confined to that made during his summer holidays finds the question of the tides most puzzling. He knows that the tides rise and fall twice in twenty-four hours, and that they are affected by the moon, and there his knowledge ends.

As a matter of fact, tides vary considerably. Round about our own coasts are to be found some of the most terrible and dangerous tidal races and currents in the world; they are due to the presence of so much narrow, broken land.

Out in the open ocean the speed of the waves is amazing, but nearer land tides travel far more slowly. Down south the attraction of the moon raises an enormous wave that courses round the world from Cape Horn to the Cape of Good Hope, unbroken by intervening land.

Off the west coast of Scotland there is a whirlpool known as the "Caldron of the Spotted Seas," where the tide races at the speed of a mountain torrent. On the River Amazon, again, the tide forms a moving wall of water thirty feet high, and reaching from bank to bank as it rushes inland from the ocean.

CATERPILLAR CRUSADE IN CANADA.

Archbishop Bruchesi will enlist the members of the Catholic church of the province in a crusade against the tent caterpillar. Owing to the prevalence of wet weather this year there are on unusually large number of these pests in the fruit trees throughout the province.

The archbishop is greatly interested in fruit culture, and when his attention was drawn to the presence of the caterpillars he issued instructions to the clergy to have their parishioners take immediate steps to destroy nests. Attention to the matter now will mean the saving of the fruit crop.—Montreal Correspondence Toronto Globe.

SLANDER.

"The summer girl is too villainously traduced."

The speaker was Mayor Bacharach of Atlantic City. With a smile he continued:

"The summer girl, as a matter of fact, is as reserved and cultured as the winter girl. Why, then, these silly yarns about her?"

"Only the other day an Atlantic avenue book seller told me with a chuckle that a summer girl had come into his shop to buy Virgil's 'Aeneid.' He asked her what on earth she wanted with such a heavy book as that. She answered that it began with the words, 'Arms and the man,' and so she thought it ought to be awfully thrilling."

THRIFTY.

"I don't believe you ever did anything in your life by way of provision for a rainy day."

"You're dead wrong there. I always get a rain check for the ball game."

WANTED TO KNOW.

"Her husband expects to be well off some of these days."

"Divorce, or has she an incurable disease?"

The Opportunity is Here Backed by Mt. Sterling Testimony.

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement. Read Mt. Sterling endorsement. Read the statements of Mt. Sterling citizens.

And decide for yourself. Here is one case of it:

They have brought me so much good that I can recommend them strongly. Another member of my family has a severe pain across the back. Different medicines were tried, but nothing did any good until I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Duerson's Drug Store. They proved to be an excellent remedy and gave me entire relief."
